Dear Dr Eisenberg,

Thank you for submitting your manuscript entitled "All-atom Simulations of Biological Function: the impossible dream". Your submission has been assigned the following tracking number: 2014-02-02607. We will be in touch again as soon as we have reached a decision. Please quote the tracking number in any communication. This e-mail simply acknowledges receipt of your submission. It does not imply that the paper will be sent out for formal review. Should the editors decide for editorial reasons that the paper is unsuitable for publication in Nature, you will be informed as soon as possible. You may track the status of your submission by clicking on the link below. Once you have logged in, you should access your "Live Manuscript" folder and then click on the "Check Manuscript Status" link.

May we remind you that Nature reserves the right not to publish papers prematurely discussed with the media. Details of our embargo policy can be found at www.nature.com/nature/authors/policy/index.html#a5. All published research manuscripts must contain a declaration of any competing financial interests. The declaration is required only when a paper is being accepted. Full details of the policy can be found at www.nature.com/nature/authors/policy/index.html#a3.

You can now use a single sign-on for all your accounts, view the status of all your manuscript submissions and reviews, access usage statistics for your published articles and download a record of your refereeing activity for the Nature journals. Please check your account regularly and ensure that we have your current contact information.

In addition, NPG encourages all authors and reviewers to associate an Open Researcher and Contributor Identifier (ORCID) to their account. ORCID is a community-based initiative that provides an open, non-proprietary and transparent registry of unique identifiers to help disambiguate research contributions.

Thank you for choosing to submit your manuscript to Nature.

Yours sincerely,

Manuscript Administration, Nature
